

The real work to keep people healthy and housed begins after they move off of the streets and into a Skid Row Housing Trust community. To learn more about opportunities listed below, and more, contact Anne Dobson, Vice President of Philanthropy at (213) 683-0522 x138 or anne@skidrow.org.

Lunch & Learn

Have staff? Have a room? Have Lunch & Learn! A team of Trust staff and client ambassadors will come to your office to educate and answer questions about homelessness, how the Trust addresses this crisis with proven solutions, and how you can help end homelessness with us.

Cook. Eat. Share!

Bring your team to one of our on-site community kitchens and cook a meal alongside Trust residents. You will cook and eat together. You might talk about homelessness...or maybe just football. No matter the conversation, you will walk away with a deeper understanding of who can experience homelessness. It may surprise you.

Welcome Home Kits

We provide more than just a key, we make sure people have the essentials to make their apartment a home. Pots and pans, towels, dish soap, toilet paper, toothpaste, shampoo — all these items are costly for someone exiting homelessness. Help fill their new home!

A Little Goes A Long Way

Are you a realtor who can give a percentage of a home sale to Trust programs? Maybe you're a restaurant owner who can offer a signature dish whose proceeds support our nutritional cooking classes. Whatever your business, you can invest in solutions to homelessness by devoting a portion of your sales to the Trust!

Artist. Chef. Graphic Designer.

Are you a financial advisor by day and a yoga instructor by night? Do you put on a suit five days a week but can't wait to tinker in the garage on the weekends? Share your hobbies and passions with us and help us engage our residents in meaningful and creative ways.
